

T. R., JR., SEES FORCE IN AMERICAN LEGION

Nationwide Organization of War Veterans Expected to Check Bolshevism.

TO INFLUENCE POLITICS
Lieutenant-Colonel Says Conduct of War Abroad Cannot Become an Issue.

Plans for the formation of a nationwide organization of men who have been in the naval or military service of the United States in the great war, and which is intended to play an important part in the determination of the military, naval and economic problems of the country, were discussed informally last night by Lieut.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who returned recently from France to put into concrete form some of the plans already developed by members of the American Expeditionary Force.

In making the announcement Lieut.-Col. Roosevelt, while confirming the story of his story of last Monday that he intended to chuck his hat into the political arena soon, but to say that he was a candidate for no particular office at this time, but that his immediate efforts would be devoted to the organization of what he has known as the American Legion. Lieut.-Col. Roosevelt is one of a group of American officers abroad who conceived the idea of a little organization to be known as the war to study peace and reconstruction problems at home from a non-partisan viewpoint and with the perspective of men who have had physical contact with the war.

Membership in the organization, however, is not to be confined to men who were overseas, but to any citizen of the United States in the service of the country. It is possible and probable that women will be included.

Convention in St. Louis in May.

According to present plans a general convention of delegates from every State is to be called in St. Louis during the first week in May. The number of delegates and the method of their selection and other preliminary details are being worked out now by Lieut.-Col. Roosevelt and some of his associates. Further announcement regarding the general scope of the movement will be made within a few days.

"I believe that such an organization will be of immense value," Lieut.-Col. Roosevelt said. "I believe that its advice will be sought by all political parties when it comes to the construction of a platform involving military, naval or economic problems. I believe also that it will prove to be a valuable and effective method of checking the Bolshevism movement that is spreading through Europe and which some people here view with concern. It will also aid materially in finding employment for returned soldiers."

Tentative plans for the St. Louis convention provide for the attendance of delegates from the military and naval representation of each State and representatives of local organizations already formed, to the end that all these may be welded into one national society that will cement itself with the future of the country. Membership will be open to all ranks of every branch of the service.

His Political Plans Unfolded.

Lieut.-Col. Roosevelt said yesterday that he was not ready to make any announcement of his own political plans. "I believe," he said, "that any statement along that line would be premature. In fact, I have no idea. Something has been about a possible candidacy for President of the Board of Aldermen. I am not a candidate for that office."

He admitted that he had talked with a number of persons influential in a political way—friends of his father upon whom he could depend for advice. He feels and admits that he is not experienced in experience for such a place. President of the Board of Aldermen, and while some of his most enthusiastic friends have urged him to announce his candidacy, his own inclinations are toward a seat in Congress or the State Legislature.

"I suppose," he added naively, "since I am going into politics, I shall have to be a candidate for something sooner or later, but at present and for some time I am going to be pretty busy with the veterans' organization."

Roosevelt apprised his political status thus: "I have," he said, "certain ideas and some ambitions, a war record of which I need not be ashamed, and I have many of my father's friends. These are my assets. My liabilities—if I may express it that way—consist chiefly of an appetite for adventure and what has been going on in this country for the last two years."

Is Not Ignorant of Politics.

While young Roosevelt's name has been seriously mentioned only within the last week in a political way, he is not so ignorant of political matters as some of his closest friends believe. He was one of a group of young Republicans who brought about the nomination of Hiram Johnson for Governor of California in 1910. He speaks familiarly and intimately of many of the bigwigs of the Republican party, and although during the lifetime of his father his own political views never received much mention he nevertheless had them. Today they are more clearly defined.

Lieut.-Col. Roosevelt is particularly interested in the problems confronting the country with respect to organized labor. He believes that one of the chief problems to be solved in the reconstruction era lies in the formation of a practical and feasible policy of reconciliation between capital and labor—a policy that while being universal in its scope will be elastic enough to permit of its application to various classes of industry. Lieut.-Col. Roosevelt believes that these and kindred problems will form the issue in the next national election.

"I do not believe," he said, "that the League of Nations will be an issue or prohibition or suffrage. The issue will be the solution of economic problems. There may be some outbursts against prohibition, but when all is said and done what opposition there is to prohibition lies not toward prohibition itself but against the way it was brought about."

War Issue in the Campaigns.

"Will the conduct of the war, in your opinion, become an issue?" Col. Roosevelt was asked.

"At home—yes. Abroad—no. The person who raises the issue of the war is the one who is making a fool of himself. The answer is written—we did it. At home—well, that is something that may be questioned of cost and waste and misplaced energy that might have been used for reconstruction."

15 Reasons

Why First Mortgages Guaranteed by This Company Are the Best Investment for Prudent People.

If the war has taught anything about investments it has taught the great merit of guaranteed mortgages.

Institutions have seen the quotations on their stocks and bonds go down so much that if they needed money the last thing they wished to do was to sell these securities and incur the heavy losses involved.

They have turned to their mortgages and, of course, have not collected all that they asked for, but have got more from that source than from any other, and what they have received they have received at par.

It is not reasonable to expect mortgages to bear the double burden of payment in full and payment immediately, but they have met in hundreds of cases even this double demand and have come out of this crisis with much better reputation than stocks and bonds which could not be collected without loss and quite often could not be realized upon at all.

No investor has ever lost a dollar.

BOND & MORTGAGE GUARANTEE CO.

Capital and Surplus, $10,000,000
170 Broadway, New York
175 Rensselaer St., 19th Floor, N.Y.C.
350 Fulton St., Jamaica

BILLS AIDING WOMEN DRAW NEAR DEATH

One Covering Elevators May Be Sole Survivor in State Legislature.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

ALBANY, March 26.—The legislative programme of the Women's Joint Legislative Conference was advanced one step nearer to death today when the Senate and Assembly committees on Labor and Industries again failed to act on the series of measures sponsored by the conference and designed to protect women in industry. This time, following the conference here of the Republican members of the Legislature, which was held the same day that the executive committee of the Republican State Committee conferred on the general political situation.

Apparently the only bill sponsored by the women which has a chance to get through this year is the one requiring women elevator operators to be at least 21 years of age, preventing them from working between 10 P. M. and 6 A. M. and requiring the installation of seats in the lifts they operate. The last provision probably will be removed by the time the measure comes up for passage by the Senate, but the Senate committee reported the whole bill favorably today.

The other bills in the women's programme, which include the minimum wage, eight hour day and rigorous restriction covering the employment of women by transportation corporations, were left out of the committee's report. This was the last chance they had in the Assembly to go forward automatically to the Rules Committee, and it was freely predicted to-night that committee will not act on them at all.

The Assembly's action on the committee reported favorably the bill introduced in response to Gov. Smith's request that $50,000 be appropriated to extend the State employment agency recently turned back by the Federal Government.

The Assembly passed the general appropriation bill providing about $60,000,000 for department expenditures. The same branch of the Legislature defeated the Governor's bill to abolish the department of narcotic drug control.

TO NAME WESTCHESTER MAN.

Rattigan Will Appoint Warden
Moyer's Successor Next Week.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

ALBANY, March 26.—Charles F. Rattigan, Superintendent of Prisons, said to-night that the successor to William H. Moyer, who resigned as Warden of Sing Sing prison, to take effect April 1, would not be named until next week. A Westchester county man will be appointed.

The superintendent declared he still is considering whether Col. Edgar S. Jennings of the 108th Infantry, Twenty-seventh Division, who was one of the discharged from military service about April 1. Friends of Col. Jennings say he is the best man in view of his military work he will not be turned down.

Supt. Rattigan announced the appointment of Robert L. Clark of Birmingham, Ala., as Moyer's successor. Clark is a former member of the Auburn Prison and was discharged from military service about April 1. He is a former member of the Auburn Prison and was discharged from military service about April 1.

Clark served as industrial agent at Auburn when Mr. Rattigan was Warden there.

FOUNDED 1856

SPRING attire becomes less of a vague promise and more of an actual necessity with the passing of each day now. Our showing of men's and boys' Spring Clothes for all occasions meets every requirement of variety, design and price moderation. Courteous and intelligent co-operation of our experienced selling force lightens the burden of making the right selection.

BROKAW BROTHERS
1457-1463 BROADWAY
AT FORTY-SECOND STREET

FIRE TRAPS FAMILY; 3 PERISH, 2 ESCAPE

Mother Gives Her Life in Effort to Save Two of Her Children.

HUSBAND IS NEAR DEATH
Bodies of Victims Buried in Ruins of Recently Bought Richmond Hill Home.

Mrs. Louise Mercier gave her life yesterday in a fruitless effort to save two of her children after fire had trapped the family in the second story of their frame cottage on Grace avenue, Richmond Hill Circle, Queens. The mother and her daughters—Leonie, 6 years old, and Helen, 3—were bound to death. George Mercier, the husband and father, who is a signal man employed by the Long Island Railroad, escaped, together with Emily, aged 9 years, the third child. Both the injured mother, and are in St. Mary's Hospital, Jamaica, where it is feared the little girl will die.

Mercier came home from work at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, banked the fire in the kitchen stove and then went upstairs to bed. At 5 o'clock the lower part of the house was in flames.

The fire evidently originated on the lower floor, but Mercier said in the hospital last night he did not know whether it started inside or outside the house. He says that a workman he had employed about the place threatened to drop a match on Monday night, but he did not finish his job. The police are trying to check up on the whereabouts of the man just prior to the fire.

Mother Awakens Sleepers.

Mrs. Mercier, who was sleeping in the back room over the kitchen, with little Helen was the first to awaken. She hurried to the stairs to find that escape was cut off. Her husband and Emily were in the middle room. She awoke them by her screams.

A hurried survey of the situation told Mercier that the windows offered the only means of escape.

"I'll jump," he told his wife. "Then you drop the children down to me and I'll catch them. Get Emily in a front window with her feet, cutting her right hand badly. Dressed only in his nightgown, he went to the window and called to the neighbors arrived at this juncture, and taking off his overcoat, he and Mercier held it under the window as a life net. They caught Emily in it, but her hands and face were burned and she afterward complained of pain in her lungs from the flames she had inhaled.

Some Striking Posters Shown.

The posters most favored are those which show the Bolsheviks attacking women. Another shows Germany as a gigantic hill, with waves of blood beating vainly against it. Still another depicts a crazed Russian, wearing huge boots and with a torch in his hand, trampling down factories and workshops, setting fire to the right and left. It is entitled "Germany's Ideal Future Under the Reign of the Bolsheviks."

With the coming of democracy everywhere, the posters are everywhere. What ever the wishes or ideas they are blasphemous in flaming red posters. Even the majority of the posters are in the hands of the police. They are on the walls and often with small handbills.

The police keep themselves well in the background; they are very timid and almost as scarce as the former sign "Verboten" (It is forbidden).

At such prices of course the poor never get a taste of such articles, but the wealthy do not suffer.

THREE FOUND SLAIN IN BED.

Mother and Children Shot—Innkeeper May Be Cause.

An odor of escaping gas drew neighbors to the apartment of Mrs. Gertrude Buell, 417 Dodd street, West Hoboken, N. J., yesterday and led to the discovery of the bodies of three persons who had been shot to death.

Frederick, Jr., 7, and daughter Gertrude, a year and a half old, lying together on the bed. All three were shot through the head. In the big hotel lunch or dinner is provided for $3, including the tip, which now is added to the bill. Oysters are 25 cents each, peaches and apples $1 each, eggs 50 cents each, but $7, sugar $2, tea $16, coffee, $10, and chocolate $20 a pound. Chickens are $3 a pound.

At such prices of course the poor never get a taste of such articles, but the wealthy do not suffer.

WAR COURT FOR SHOOTER.

Sergeant Will Be Tried for Injury to Automobileist.

Brig.-Gen. William J. Nicholson has ordered a court-martial for Sergeant Joseph Shoenman of the provost guard at Camp Union for the accidental shooting of Walter Frederickson of 273 West Twenty-second street, Manhattan, at the camp early yesterday morning. Frederickson was riding in a motor car when he was struck by a bullet fired by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

FATE OF GERMANY RESTS ON FOOD RAGE

Continued from First Page.

advantage of this situation to obtain industrial and commercial interests at ridiculously low prices, while Americans are sitting supine in Copenhagen and The Hague chafing because they are stringently forbidden even to speak to Germans under penalty of forfeiture of their passports.

Three Spineless Political Parties.

Politically no dependence or hope can be placed in the middle class Democratic, Centrist or Liberal parties. They are spineless and ineffectually organized. Therefore, if the Government gives way it is almost certain to slide further to the left, or become more radical.

Probably there is no other country which is appealing to the public mind against Bolshevism with such campaign methods and such organizations, privately financed, as are being used in Germany. Privy Councillor Bergmann, at one time a partner of Thomas A. Edison, told me that industrialists, financiers and business concerns in Germany had raised so far $5,000,000 to fight Bolshevism and help to pay the volunteer soldiers who form the Praetorian Guard of Gustav Noke, the Minister of Defense.

Walls of buildings, even plate glass windows, are plastered with anti-Bolshevik posters, some striking, others horrible. One of the latter is the title of one. It represents a fanatic with sinewy fingers entwined about the throat of another, who is on his knees before him, while a third, a woman in a pool of blood, with a knife in her breast, with a little baby trying to reach its mother.

With the coming of democracy everywhere, the posters are everywhere. What ever the wishes or ideas they are blasphemous in flaming red posters. Even the majority of the posters are in the hands of the police. They are on the walls and often with small handbills.

The police keep themselves well in the background; they are very timid and almost as scarce as the former sign "Verboten" (It is forbidden).

At such prices of course the poor never get a taste of such articles, but the wealthy do not suffer.

THREE FOUND SLAIN IN BED.

Mother and Children Shot—Innkeeper May Be Cause.

An odor of escaping gas drew neighbors to the apartment of Mrs. Gertrude Buell, 417 Dodd street, West Hoboken, N. J., yesterday and led to the discovery of the bodies of three persons who had been shot to death.

Frederick, Jr., 7, and daughter Gertrude, a year and a half old, lying together on the bed. All three were shot through the head. In the big hotel lunch or dinner is provided for $3, including the tip, which now is added to the bill. Oysters are 25 cents each, peaches and apples $1 each, eggs 50 cents each, but $7, sugar $2, tea $16, coffee, $10, and chocolate $20 a pound. Chickens are $3 a pound.

At such prices of course the poor never get a taste of such articles, but the wealthy do not suffer.

WAR COURT FOR SHOOTER.

Sergeant Will Be Tried for Injury to Automobileist.

Brig.-Gen. William J. Nicholson has ordered a court-martial for Sergeant Joseph Shoenman of the provost guard at Camp Union for the accidental shooting of Walter Frederickson of 273 West Twenty-second street, Manhattan, at the camp early yesterday morning. Frederickson was riding in a motor car when he was struck by a bullet fired by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.

The car had gone a short way when a car appeared from the rear with lights on, and was riding in the front seat, turned about, remarking that he would make the driver follow him. He was shot through the chest by the provost guard.